COMMUNITY
HEALTH SERVICES of Georgia®

Providing Georgia Direct Access to Health Services

L etter From the President

The word connecting means the state of being connected or the logical relation or sequence of events. In healthcare a sequence of events can connect an individual to the right care, at the right time, in the right place. Navigating the world of healthcare services such as skilled nursing care, home health or rehabilitation therapy can be overwhelming for patients and family members. Trying to align the needed healthcare services can be even more daunting.

Community Health Services of Georgia (CHSGA) provides a continuum of healthcare services and programs across Georgia every day. We strive to be the healthcare system individuals turn to when they are looking for hospice services, transitional care after surgery or an illness or even a program for a loved one that needs memory care. The mission of CHSGA is providing Georgia direct access to health services including assisting patients and family members in navigating the healthcare system, aligning the services and programs and, finally, delivering needed healthcare services.

As you read this year's annual report I hope you will gain insight into the connections between our services and organizations. Each is ready to help navigate, align and then deliver the care needed.

Respectfully yours,

T Transitional Care

Healthcare workers focus on caring for others, often failing to make their own personal care a priority. Transitional care services and healthcare education provided to Community Health Services of Georgia's member organizations help associates stay connected and engaged in their own well-being.

By providing healthcare navigation and assisting with access to primary and preventative care, associates are alerted to their own health issues. As part of this process, skilled nursing services and NextStep Care work together to bring health screenings to associates at their place of work.

During a health screening, associates can have their pulse, blood pressure and blood sugar tested. They have the opportunity to become acquainted with services and healthcare options available to them. If an urgent medical concern is discovered during the screening, a telehealth examination is available. With telehealth, associates can speak immediately with a primary care physician while at the skilled nursing center where they work. By connecting associates with both skilled nursing and transitional care services they receive the knowledge needed to take charge of their own health.

A Acute Care Services

Acute care services, especially those offered around the clock, can be hard to come by in rural areas. Such a presence in a community delivers vital access to specialty services for local residents. A deep connection to the population raises awareness of the community's healthcare environment and corresponding health needs. Collaboration with healthcare professionals and services such as pulmonary, surgical, orthopedic and rehabilitation therapy has allowed for a more effective and convenient approach to addressing local healthcare necessities. Rural hospitals serve by connecting community members with essential care.

As a small rural-community hospital, Northridge Medical Center continues to be recognized for changing the healthcare environment in the local community. Most recently, the Georgia Alliance of Community Hospitals chose Northridge Medical Center as "2016 Small Hospital of the Year."

Skilled Nursing Services

When a person is in need of skilled nursing services, it takes a team with an interdisciplinary plan to assist the patient in reaching their desired goals. Depending on their individual care needs, the patient may require a combination of services; perhaps rehabilitation therapy, wound care or a new medication regimen.

A care-plan team can consist of physicians, nurse practitioners, social services associates, dietitians and therapists working together toward the patient's goals. When the patient progresses to the discharge stage, home health services can continue the recovery process.

Through Ethica's client nursing centers, the patient can stay on the road to recovery after discharge with the continued support of a safe transition home. With Ethica client centers connectivity to the continuum of healthcare resources, they can align home health services, durable medical equipment and case management follow-up necessary to make the return home as seamless as possible. The patient can continue recovering in the comforts of their home with nursing and rehabilitation services. This sequence of care enables patients to gain strength, recover and improve their health with the proper guidance and resources.

Home Health

Patients recovering from an illness or surgery often have one preference in mind: being at home. Amicita Home Health helps patients and families navigate from the hospital or skilled nursing center back to their home.

Through home health services, patients are able to receive the care they require on a daily basis. Home health nurses collaborate with rehabilitation therapists to provide a patient-centered treatment plan focused on achieving the patient's desired outcome. Delivering rehabilitation services through physical, occupational and speech therapy in the comfort of the patient's home are part of the journey to their optimal health and wellness.

As these healthcare providers and their services come together, patients benefit from the connection by being able to reach their highest individual level of independence and having the potential to participate in daily life.

Hospice Care

When someone has an illness that affects their life expectancy, hospice care services can assist in making their end-of-life journey peaceful. While in hospice care, patients and families are treated as one, and a holistic approach is taken to provide physical, emotional and spiritual comfort. At times, a loved one's care needs exceed what can be given at home, making alternatives necessary. The Affinis Hospice team is there to support families and patients in making the tough decisions a little easier.

Hospice and skilled nursing centers join together to provide alternatives to caring for patients at home. Hospice team members work with families and the centers to assist them in this transition of care. The hospice team continues to provide the patient and family with the same services they would receive if they remained at home; this promotes continuity in the care the patient receives and familiarity for those delivering it. Having a team approach between hospice and skilled nursing centers aligns the objective for patient treatment with the patient's and family's goals of comfort.

R Rehabilitation Therapy

Rehabilitation therapy services deliver physical therapy, occupational therapy and speech therapy to patients in many settings throughout the continuum of care, such as hospitals, home health, skilled nursing centers and outpatient therapy clinics. Often, patients may become well enough to be discharged home from the hospital but could benefit from continued therapy services on an outpatient basis.

Integra Rehabilitation is associated with acute care services in a rural hospital to take care of patients in both inpatient and outpatient settings. This collaboration facilitates a unique therapy experience, allowing the same therapists to treat the patient throughout their journey to independence. As part of an interdisciplinary team, clinically competent therapists work with other healthcare professionals at the hospital to help patients return to their desired levels of function. Stroke recovery, orthopedic recovery and cardiac recovery are just a few of the patient-centric clinical pathways Integra uses to individualize each patient's needs.

Delivery of therapy services helps connect the recovery healthcare needs of that community.

T Transportation Services

A focus of Community Ambulance is to provide basic emergency medicine to victims of trauma and acute illness before and during transportation to a hospital or other facility. In providing these services, the organization identified a need to assist patients in rural communities with staying connected and engaged in healthcare as they transition back home. To help these individuals, Community Ambulance partnered with transitional care services to work with medics in improving patient engagement for better outcomes. Associates routinely visit eligible patients and use telemedicine to facilitate a primary care physician visit in each home. Mobile technology such as telemedicine allows patients with chronic conditions to have their health closely monitored on a regular basis. Telemedicine involves the use of electronic communications and software to provide clinical services to patients in their homes. By working together, medics and transitional care service associates can also identify issues with medication compliance and when to connect a patient to their community resources and primary care.

Medical Supply Distribution

Skilled nursing centers certainly rely on associate expertise, but also on dependable service and quality products. This can be tested when a natural disaster strikes. During Hurricane Matthew, a nursing center along Georgia's coast was required to evacuate its patients. By aligning the needs of the nursing center and its patients, ECP Distributors was able to deliver not only routine supplies, but also emergency supplies, such as cots, air mattresses and hygiene items. ECP delivered and set up the supplies in a shelter prior to the evacuees' arrival, which made for a smooth transition. As a result of the link between skilled nursing services, medical supply distribution teams and effective communication, the center was able to continue providing quality care even during an emergency situation.

Pharmacy Services

Pharmacy needs for hospice and patients requiring end-of-life care can change at a moment's notice. ElderCare can meet patients needs with an on-call 24-hour pharmacist and through drug-regimen reviews, clinical screening, infusion therapy and pain therapy management. Throughout the healthcare continuum ElderCare Pharmacy connects with clients such as hospice or skilled nursing centers in determining medication regimens specific to each patient. Using their clinical expertise, pharmacists deliver medications from the basics to more medically complex. This can strengthen the outcomes for patients.

Foundation

Mentorship, guidance and encouragement all help make a difference in the lives of others. When a group of people comes together with the same mission, an even greater difference can be made. One hundred percent of all donations made to Community Health Foundation, a not-for-profit 501(c)(3) corporation organized under the laws of the state of Georgia, go to one of three funds: The Hearts to Hands Fund, Annual Fund or the Beneficiary Fund. It's through these donations that the foundation can purchase medical equipment, donate supplies and skills to help rebuild a new home, or turn the power back on for a family during a crisis situation.

Thank you to the more than 3,900 donors who have helped to make someone's life a little better.
